Research Experience

2015-2016

Comparison of Two Validated Tools for the Assessment of Spiritual Wellness in the Prediction of Adverse Outcomes in Outpatients with Chronic Heart Failure
Research Advisors: Gowri Anandarajah, M.D., Philip Chan, M.D., M.S., and Philip Stockwell, M.D.

IRB-approved questionnaire-based protocol comparing the FACIT-Sp-12 and the SIWB, two validated tools for the assessment of spiritual wellness, in predicting quality of life (measured by the MOS SF-20) and adverse outcomes (e.g. heart failure-related hospitalizations) in outpatients with chronic heart failure, evaluating patients at the Rhode Island Hospital Heart Failure Clinic. Based on the data accrued for the 14 patient surveyed, we found that the FACIT-Sp-12 is better at predicting higher quality of life in heart failure patients. Neither the FACIT-Sp-12 nor SIWB scores can be directly correlated with poor quality of life scores. Both the FACIT-Sp-12 and the SIWB are equivalent in predicting the number of heart failure-related hospitalizations in chronic heart failure patients. Patients with higher spiritual wellness scores have a tendency to have higher quality of life and less heart failure-related hospitalizations.

The Dr. Earl Stewart, Jr. Family Foundation is a private, non-operating (grant making), family-run, non-profit corporation organized exclusively for charitable purposes, including, for such purposes, the making of distributions to organizations that qualify as exempt organizations, under Section 501 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, or the corresponding section of any future federal tax code and pursuant to the Georgia Nonprofit Corporation Code.

The mission of the Dr. Earl Stewart, Jr. Family Foundation is to create and award educational scholarship grants to African-American youth who meet all individual scholarship criteria, financially support cultural, historical, performing and visual arts, and faith-based organizations and institutions of Christian worship in the African-American community and those that seek to strengthen and further the heritage and history of the African-American community. The organization also endeavors to financially support other philanthropic and charitable non-profit corporations recognized under section 501(c) (3).

The Society of Physician-Poets (SPP)

Founder

Founded March 25, 2016

Mission

The mission of the Society of Physician-Poets is to provide an outlet for physicians and medical students from the international community to share and showcase their self-composed works of poetry with others in the medical community in an environment that is welcoming, encouraging, and non-judgmental of their poetic works.

Purpose

The purpose of the Society of Physician-Poets is to foster augmented humanism in medicine by providing practicing physicians and medical students the opportunity to read works of poetry submitted by their peers and through the encouragement of writing poetic works of their own.
